

---

Introducing myself

Posted by Newdaawn - 2007/09/10 13:43

---

I am new today. Not sure what you all like to talk about but I was a fan of the Starting Over House from it's first episode in Chicago and continuing for several years. I miss it. I didn't care much for it when they went to "couples" however. I live in Maine and like to garden, travel and read. I'm also interested in following politics.

=====

Re:Introducing myself

Posted by KPW1956 - 2007/09/10 14:35

---

Welcome to the forum.. We all miss SO...

Here you'll find alot of banter about various shows and an occasional mini update about someone related with SO.. (Lately Rhonda's blogs..)

Many of us hope they'll bring back reruns to a cable channel or even better would be a newer improved version of SO...

I think for the most part this forum has been politics free.. Which can be a refreshing break! :) Especially with such a small community.

=====

Re:Introducing myself

Posted by Debby - 2007/09/10 15:21

---

Hi there. Welcome to the board. Most members here were hardcore SO fans. We like to keep up with the former SO houseguests and staff as well as discuss current events and tv shows.

I'll look forward to seeing you again.

=====

Re:Introducing myself

Posted by posh - 2007/09/27 00:11

---

hello welcome its nice to hear from new people. we are dye hard fans of starting over and we also talk about other things. im a mother of 4 and a wife i enjoy reading sneaking a bubble bath. gardening. etc. i miss starting over so much because i felt like each girl and her situation i can ralate in some way except for a couple. anyway continue to chat love posh

=====

Re:Introducing myself

Posted by dbmcmommy - 2007/09/28 14:06

---

Welcome, both posh and Newdaawn, to SOTalk. It's nice to have new members. I hope you both keep coming back.

=====

Re:Introducing myself

Posted by mejustme - 2007/09/29 22:44

---

I thought posh had been here for a while.

=====

