Britney Spears

I'm a little confused. I was actually on the phone last night when I ran across Nancy Grace. It looked like she was doing a story on a RECENT filing by Federline for full custody against Britney, however, today I haven't seen it anywhere. Has anyone heard anything about this?

I went to her OFFICIAL website. www.britneyspears.com and it is quite strange. It really doesn't look like her at all and it's not much of a website.

There is a rumor on TMZ. Wouldn't blame him with the all the stuff that is going on. She isn't acting like she has her head screwed on right when you take it all in. She really does seem to be lost in some small world all her own. I kinda feel sorry for her-

I do know she was involved in a fender bender with a parked car in a parking lot and instead of leaving a note or dealing with it... video shows her looking at the damage to her car and then went shopping. The lady who owned the parked car filed a police report against her.

E had a program on last night showing her start on Mickey Mouse and then when she got her first big hit as well as her transformation to young woman. She appeared to have so much energy and a zest for what she was doing.

Shame... somewhere along the road she became jaded. She may have gotten too much too soon at too young of an age. My guess is she may be involved with drugs. She just seems to have a disregard and/or lack of respect for people and things. She appears spacey and "drugged up." Shame... she is so talented.

I think it was brought up when she shaved her head, but the rumor has resurfaced that the reason she shaved her head was to avoid a hair drug test. It can measure drugs in your system for up to 3 months.

If you've seen her famous photos, you know that she made sure there was zero amount of hair on her body. Maybe she was very worried Kevin would request one in court and she could lose custody. I think it still might happen.

She lost physical custody of her kids.

According to TMZ she didn't follow anything the commissioner instructed her on.

Maybe this will be a huge wake-up call... I hope she does.... I know a couple of mothers that didn't hit rock bottom when their kids were taken away and it's always a sad story for the kids.

Thanks T/R,

That was nice to see him again. Sorry I missed it but am thankful for NBC to make clips available! and also sorry that it was not a piece on typical women's issues or a plug for an SO replacement.

Britney is definitely not your typical woman.. Or at least I sure hope not! I do hope she manages to get her act together before her kids grow up to resent her and they are negatively affected by being shuffled here and there and everywhere..

Dr. Stan is looking better than ever! Of course, I agree with his comments. I'm not sure if I think Britney REALLY wants to parent the boys. I think if she did, she would have done what the court said she must do as opposed to ignoring them and waving it in their face.

Did you see the photo and video, I don't have a link now, of her driving without a license, with the boys in the back, the day after the court ordered her to not do that?

The 2 year old grabbed the 1 year olds hand and held on to it as if to comfort him from the terror. Dr. Drew, he's a famous tv psychologist, said this behavior by the boys was a sign they live in conflict and do this to comfort each other, because they don't get it from the parent.

I think they should have immediately sent Law enforcement and social workers to pick up the children. I'm afraid she might kill them. To trust her to do the right thing is just scary. WHY would you trust her to do anything right?

People keep saying, where is her mother? Dr. Phil said that someone in her life needs to tell her the truth, but what they don't understand is that she is an adult. If you tell her what she doesn't want to hear, she's done with you. You can't help someone who doesn't want to be helped.

Rumor is that she already handed the kids over to K-Fed's body guards

What a relief. I'm glad she did the right thing this time.

I do hope so, except I have recently been wondering if she has something more wrong with her besides substance abuse. I have wondered for a while now if she may be schizophrenic. I think I have posted that before months ago. I am leaning more in that direction in light of reports from her bodyguard that she often talked in different voices. He said she did it often and it was disconcerting to him and the children. That illness is very serious and requires medication.
