Wikipedia - Starting Over

Wow! I hit a ton of new info... Maybe not so new... but perhaps new to most of us!

http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Starting\_Over\_\(TV\_series\))

I did another post about Jessica from season 3. I thought her blog was interesting and open..and definitely great news that she is doing well. I totally understand why she privatized (sp?) her Myspace. I'm glad she is opening back up.. She mentions the SO fans / addicts.. and I guess you could say many of us are/were too.

I went back to look at the Wikipedia some more to see what I could glean from other 'blogs'...

I went to Kim (season 2) and didn't notice much other than that Chloe (aka Towanda) had a Myspace page and was listed as a friend. So I clicked on 'Chloe's' and one of Chloe's friends has a Towanda Braxton listed as a friend.. I went 'Hm' ... T looked familiar although donning what looked like a wig and listed her hometown as L.A. In reading through a few of her friends comments.. I see people wishing her happy birthday.. Of course I remember she had a birthday in the SO house 2 years ago.. I still thought it interesting that she had 2 Myspace accts...and was wondering if they were the same person... Chloe definitely looked like the Towanda we saw during SO2. With the wig, one would have to look closer at the other Myspace. Anyway, one of the entries was from Chloe.. wishing herself a Happy Birthday.. Like "Happy Birthday to Me" post.. I just thought it strange. I think she might have had pictures of her children on there. She's had 2 babies since SO. It sounded like a boy and a girl..

I peeked at Antonio's Myspace which looked different and looked at Bethany's. Bethany had an interesting one. She asked visitors if anyone had any clips from the SO show that they could put on Youtube. I think she was more looking for clips from her time on SO. She also mentioned a site called Something to Remember.

<http://www.somethingtorememberonline.com/>

Tiny forum there.. It looks like it's a site that helps people who deal with amnesia for one reason or another. It may be pretty new.. Not many posts.. But Bethany posted there and Rhonda did as well. I think the posts were dated over the summer. You might check it out. It sounded like Bethany is doing really really well too. I always had a fondness for her since she was my son's age and I have a daughter named Bethany... Plus I saw that we had several other things in common while she was on the show.. So it's really nice to know how well she is doing.

Enjoy discovering what's happening with some of your favorites from SO's past. I plan to look around more later.. I found it rather late last night and didn't poke around as much as I would have liked.

Thanks for all that research KPW! I look forward to checking out all the sites. I have been in trial most of this week and am still very slammed in the office so my time with SOT has been limited. Some of the things you picked up on do sound odd.

I did look at the Remember site. I liked Bethany too. As you know she is from my home state and the last I heard was attending school at the University of NC at Greensboro, I think.

Where does she say she is looking for clips from SO? I may check into that if I can contact her.

I think I saw that at her Myspace page.. The link was on the Wikipedia list. I remember it being in a block on the upper left hand side of the page..

Here is a link to her Myspace. The block also has a picture of her with a small dog. She's offering an incentive to be able to find clips.. I wonder why Rhonda or NBC Studios couldn't provide those for her?

I just noticed that the Something to Remember site is actually her sisters (Jessicas) set up as a tribute to Bethany's situation and those like her with similar experiences through illness or trauma.

Or so it appears.. My mistake thinking it was Bethany's site.

I noticed that a lot of people that were on SO and many others that are celebs, athletes, and writers tend to have 2 MySpace accounts. One for personal use and another for public use.

Chloe is Towanda's middle name according to the court records on her so it very much could be her.

.....Matter of fact I just checked out Chloe's site and suprise... listed as one of her friend was Tamar and Toni Braxton... So I think you are right, it is her.

It's been awhile since I visited Sommer's site.

She's got scads of the former hg's on there listed as 'friends' and also a myspace fansite for Dr. Stan as a 'friend'. It's settings are private though. Maybe some of the SO women set something up just for them..

Sommer has a couple of sites.. but this is the one I saw all the great links. Some of them may be outdated.
