Big Brother 9 sooner than we think?

I heard a rumor and I don't know if has to do solely with the writers strike or not, but they are casting now for BB9 and chosen houseguests are scheduled to enter the house the first week in February.

This will be the first time ever to have two seasons of BB in one year. Allison did say in the article that the season in July would still take place.

Dang, I forgot to get the link.....I'll go get it and post for anyone who'd like to read it.

It kind of sounded like this was an idea that had been considered before but the writers strike may have pushed things up.

I would love to have BB in the winter too! :laugh: My gosh I have to get a life. ;)

I never got into the last BB. I'm not sure why. I didn't care for the contestants this last season. I hope the new group is better. I'll give it another shot.

I saw a commercial for BB and if you wanted to send in tapes. It really didn't say much. Showed past BB people and had said to check the web site for more information.

Well... I'm in.

I love the show... I love to see how people from all different walks of life interact with each other. The winners of last season were not people I would care to associate with in real life, but I found it interesting... more than interesting... LOL... it was plain and simple addictive. LOL.

They've already started casting calls so there is a really good chance it will start this winter!

I think there is a good chance too....just for the fact of the casting calls. We usually don't get Big Brother commercials until June...and they are showing them often. They had a list posted somewhere of the casting dates and cities.

I'm excited...especially if this writer's strike does continue there won't be anything new on to watch, and no matter how much I come to despise some of the Big Brother contestants I am a die hard fan of the show.
