Hello everyone! I just thought I'd check in with all you hot chicks and letcha know that I've got a new book coming out in the spring! Holy hootie, I've been writing up a storm! The book is called Cents of Style and will feature loads of beauty and style genius for thrifty divas who want to look like a million without spending a fortune!

I hope you're all having a wonderful and loving holiday season!

Love & Trust,

Andy

Thanks for that update! I'll be looking forward to seeing the book!

Let us know if you hear of anything in the works for a SO replacement. It was rumored at one time that Rhonda and Dr. Stan might have been collaborating..

The majority of us STILL miss SO!

Hope you are doing well! Sure sounds like it!

Congratulations Andy. Thanks for the info. I must say you look fantastic in that photo on your site. The site looks great too.

It looks as if you have been very busy. Good luck.
We are always eager for new about SO hg.

Andy... What a nice surprise. Please be sure to drop in any time... let us know what you are up to... dating anyone... LOL... the mother in me asking.

Please let the other women know that we are still here and would love to hear personal updates.

Wishing you and all the women of Starting Over the very best.

Muzzy

Because she provides a link to her site. Her moniker has been well established.. Why would an imposter promote her site that she's had for some time?

This site has so little traffic as it is.. She was looking for communities of people who might have been interested.

She found a great site of SO fans.

I'm pretty sure it's Andy because the person is registered on this site with an email address from her website domain.
