Has anyone who watched the first episode seen any similarities between Courtney and Dani Donato?

I watched a little but had company over and didn't catch all of it.
I plan to pick up soon and really pay attention. Maybe then, I can make some post about the show.

show is off to a typical SURVIVOR Season...

getting to know the different tribes... how they get along... or DON'T GET ALONG! ha! seeing different personalities... who is not going to be able to handle the Survivor atmosphere...

already Ashley, the Woman Wrestler had been sick... laying around, not contributing...

at Tribal Council, it was her tribe (forgot names!) that had to vote someone off the island... well, 3 of the tribesmen said that the one/s who don't contribute - would be voted OFF!

NOT.. didn't happen! Instead CHICKEN MAN got voted off... and was a SHOCK to him... not only ME! :ohmy:

We'll see how they are fairing come tomorrow night...

SURVIVOR CHINA THURSDAY!!!

:whistle: :silly: :whistle:

I was happy to see the chicken man go... LOL... he was just too mean for my taste.

This week my husband expected Dave to get voted out... I thought Ashley would... LOL... guess I was right. I cannot see Dave lasting too long... his arrogance will do him in.

It's too bad this new cast didn't learn from Rupert Boneham's chapped thighs and wear something more sensible when they showed up in China. I don't know about them laying around in their dirty underwear or ending up nude during competitions! :laugh:

Chicken shot himself in the foot by refusing to offer advice after his first try was rejected.

I love the strategy of that one dude who plans to sleep all the time so he can suddenly become very useful when no one expects it. I can't wait to see if he gets the boot before his plan comes to fruition.:whistle:

LOL... this is true.

Was suprised that Leslie was perceived as a threat.

I guess the writing is on the wall for Courtney to go next if their team loses the next immunity challenge.

It makes sense for team to keep Jean Robert because he is more helpful with challenges than Leslie or Courtney, but he will probably be the first to go if the team is ever in a position to not need his muscle... LOL.

Survivor was good this week and last week. Seems that strategy is being played over popularity.

Courtney is alarmingly thin... I wonder how long she will last... she look skeleton like.

I heard, and this is the first time I've ever paid attention to any Survivor spoilers, that Courtney actually makes it to final 3. I couldn't hardly believe it. So far the spoilers I've read have been pretty acurate though.

I was very sad to see Aaron go...had a little crush on that one!! ;-)

I like James and I think Todd and Amanda are playing a very good game...they're very smart. It was a really good plan with the idol and james, I wish they could've pulled it off, but I was glad to see Sherea go.....didn't like her from the start.

I lived in New Orleans for five years. Had I known what at least one of the grave diggers was like I might have spent more time hanging around the cemeteries!

Come to think of it, everyone is buried above ground there. That's odd...:blink:

Courtney in the final 3... I can almost see that happening. She is obviously no physical threat to anyone.

Bossy people are usually the first to go... then go the complainers... once merged the physically strong are the biggest targets. The witty and physically weak usually go to the end.

I was also glad to see Sherea go.

I like James too. I was surprised Todd was so upset that James did not need to use the immunity idol... he still had two people from the other team in his camp to eliminate. I don't think it was very smart to let everyone know about the immunity idol. The way it's being played can come back to bite them. These guys are going to have to sharpen their wit skills.

James, James, James.....what were you thinking????

Even though I knew he was going (courtesy of spoilers) I kept hoping at anytime he was going to pull out one of those idols. I really liked that guy!

Todd is the one I am rooting for now. Both him and Amanda are playing a good game...smart. I really like Denise..she is so sweet.

I can't believe they are already down to six!

Ditto... Ditto... Ditto!

James, James, James... what the heck was he thinking? LOL. He obviously wasn't, or was he? He looked like he was thinking of using the idol, but seemed to change his mind. Can you imagine the ribbing he will be receiving from Jeff at the end of the game... LOL.

Was this week and next week the only time that James could have used the idols?

I couldn't believe that he didn't use the immunity idol the week before. He took a risk and was lucky to stay safe. When I heard he had not used it again, I was floored! Was he so confident that he would take such a foolish risk? Didn't he also have 2?

LOL yeah he had TWO!!! He could have spared one...lol

In seasons past they could only use them through final 4.

He gave a great exit speech though, I almost thought he would be highly ticked off but he seemed to take it in stride. Or maybe he was in shock over his dumb move.

Tonight... tonight... won't be just any night... tonight is 3 hours of Survivor China!

I would like to see Amanda win as my first choice. Denise as my second choice.

Tudin_girl... Looks like the spoiler you read about Courtney was correct. I can see her in third place... she sure has not been a threat to anyone.

I was so glad Courtney didn't win...especially after that remark she made about Denise. That was uncalled for and spiteful. She can be really nasty.

I was glad that Todd won..after James he was my favorite. I love the way he made NO excuses for how he played the game at the final tribal council and I loved that Jon Robert voted for him and put his hard feelings aside.

It was a pretty good season.....now bring on BIG BROTHER!!

Did ya'll see the official preview for it? WOO HOO!! Survivor and Big Brother all in the same month.....what more could we ask for?

Todd presented himself well at the final tribal council, and deserved to win.

I was surprised that Amanda came across so poorly. I think she made a big mistake voting Denise off. It would have been interesting if she created a tie, with either Todd or Cortney against Denise. They would have had to battle it out, and I think Amanda may have gotten votes for that move... plus a definite vote from Denise.

I was also happy that Courtney did not win. And was happy Denise got the $50,000. She has a tough life, but I'm wondering if she was pushing the sympathy card.

All in all... it was a great show... the 3 hours flew by.

There was mention that one of the survivors from last night will be in the next Survivor show... my guess is James. Any other guesses?

Looking forward to Big Brother.

There are so many rumors flying right now about who will appear on the next season...it's hard to decipher.

We should get better more reliable spoilers in Jan.
