
GSN - Game Show Network

I really don't watch that much TV but I have been in bed sick with a cold the past few days. Since there's not much on TV I wanted to watch the Game Show Network. However, Comcast has decided to replace it with infomercials. This is really annoying!

I was sick a couple of days after Christmas and spent a lot time in bed watching tv. I noticed that at night there is soooooo many infomercials. It is unreal. I can't believe there are so many on my cable. I now realize I'm not getting all the channels I thought I was. Some of them aren't all that viewable.

I guess they actually moved the Game Show Network. My husband found it the other day! I am still sick all the infomercial everywhere else though. People must make some decent money from them though!
