
Update time!! Josie and Chloe

Posted by dbmcmommy - 2005/05/02 21:21

Lynnell has posted an update on Josie and Chloe on her web site. The following has been copied and pasted.

Josie is no longer working at the bar, she is working two jobs, one is at a restaurant and the other is an aid to a man who is disabled with muscular dystrophy. I asked her to clear up the rumors of her and Jonathon, yes she saw him for a couple of hours two months ago. He wanted to talk with her and she agreed, afterwards she wished she hadn't and she hasn't seen him since. Josie's all excited about her new car, a 2004 Chevy Malibu. Chloe goes to day care during the week while Josie's at work. Our little Chloe has developed pretty bad asthma, she needs to use a nebulizer, looking back on the time when she was taken to the hospital that was most likely her first attack. Josie and Chloe will be coming to stay with me this summer for a week or two, I can't wait to see Chloe and when they come, I promise to take a ton of pictures for you.

Great news, I'm thinking. Lynnell is AMAZING at keeping us all updated. I love this gal!

Oh Lynelle is so great at keeping us all updated on the ladies .

Well Chloes asthma would explain the trip to the hospital. Can't wait for all the photo's this summer after they visit. I sure hope it is early summer so we can see the photo's sooner than later.

I agree. So sad that baby Chloe has asthma. Thank goodness they found out already and that certainly would explain the breathing problem she had on the show. :(

Hang in there Josie. And send Lynnell some more pics! ;) ;)

The good news is that asthma is treatable My oldest had it and was diagnosed with it after a bout with RSV a really nasty lung infection. Since Chloe hasbeen diagnosed with it there is a good possiblity that she will outgrow when she becomes a teenager.

I thought that is why the Viewer from Wisconsin sent Josie the computer - so she could keep us Updated!

I had forgotten about that HD and your right she was sent a computer to help her with studies and set up a site to communicate with others.

There was nothing on Lynnell's site about Josie having a site. Would be nice. I know I'll check in with thechain periodically to check and see. If I see or read anything I'll give you the 411.

Today was the re-run episode when they called 911 for Chloe having a hard time breathing. I started crying thinking of what they all went through and thinking of what Josie has been through since the show finding out about Chloe's asthma. For me the graduation episode for Josie and Chloe was tough because little Chloe is leaving the show and being on her own is such a long hard road. Anyone with kids understands.
