Hi everyone. I just signed up here, came over from the board that is going to vanish. I do have a question or two. Hopefully some of you can help. How do you go about changing your password? Also, everytime you come here do you have to get a new password (that happened to me 3 times already). I came here, typed my name and password that was sent to me via email and was told it was wrong. Had to "find out password" which was emailed to me a few min. later, which was different than the first one. I cannot find any FAQ's, or somewhere I can go to find this info out. Any help you can give, I would appreciate. Thanks in advance.

You should not have to change your password each time you come back.

To change you password click on the "your details" link under User Menu.

Hi again, ok I tried what you said I should do, and went to "your details" and put in the password that I wanted, and retyped it like it said, then entered it. It said ok, or whatever its supposed to. IT STILL DOESNT WORK. Sorry, for yelling, but everytime I want to come here I have to get a new password. Can someone please help me, step by step if possible.

Thank you very much.

Jan

I don't know why it's not working. Are you typing both your name and password in the correct case?

Are your cookies enabled?

Have you tried clearing you tempory internet fiies?

The only other thing I can think of it is that somebody else knows your screen name and email address and is changing your password on you.
