
Lori - lasting friendships

Posted by hsmom - 2004/08/12 08:00

I was so happy for Lori today. On the reruns, they showed Andy come back to the house to help Lori with her graduation party. They showed such great friendship, both then, and when they hosted the show today.

It was so good to see the true friendship, and not the fake happiness that Nyanza would show. Go girls!!

I think the thing it also shows is how much they really support eachother outside of the house. I remember when christine and cassie were back and they had that meeting. They were telling Nyanza that she wasn't there . She didn't know what was going on . I love Lori adn Andy. I think Lori made the biggest change. You can tell how happy she is now.

Hey MO,

My favorite andy and lori moment is when they are loading up the ballloons in the van for lori's party. The balloons start popping andyou hear both andy and lori laughing really hard.

Hi all

I can not wait for the party to start :P :P it comes on at 2:06AM and I am going to tape it so first thing in the morning I can watch it. I missed that part last time around :(:(I came in just before the drivers test and the yelling match between Ronda and the first lady to be booted off the show :blink: :P :laugh: sorry girls but I just never felt she should have being on the show in the first place... :mad:

LEARNING HOW TO DRIVE :mad: :x :blink:

give me a break! That poor instructor should have being given hazard pay just too get in the car with her :laugh: :blink: :blink:

I know be nice :x i am trying really I am B)

hi hugs,

I think our unwritten rule is say what you want about the people of the show, just be nice to the other posters!:) :):):laugh::laugh:

love you like a sister--
--talk to you more than one!

What a fun party Lori had!!

Looked like fun, and I can't believe they were throwing cake! Lori has really come a long way. Let's have our own party! Hugs, I'll bring the cake, you make the balloon animals!!

We all can play in the rain like the ladies did too!! Hugs, I know you want to:):):)

The reruns still haven't gotten to the point I came in at. I never met Andy, Lori, or Kimberlyn the first time around.

This episode is lori shinning moment. She really did make a huge change. I wonder if her and Matt are still together they make such a cute couple. The cake fight was so funny. I am amazed that she did finally reach out and reconnect. It was good for her and I think Brend was right.

Man what a party :laugh: :laugh: :blink: :P :P I LOVED THAT CAKE FIGHT!!!!

Maybe if you buy the cake it is easier to smash it into someone :laugh: :laugh:

Heck growing up if we ever tried that we would be strapped so hard it would have hurt for a week and marked for a month :x "Wasting Good Food"

Have always wanted to do it though, but flash backs to the speech always pop into my head :mad: :mad: :unsure: never know when they could pop in.....

ANY WAY I just loved how Lori shone all night. I am glad I taped it so I could see it over and over.

I was sad to hear that Mat dumped her after 6 months :(He lost a very caring person, who has do much love to share.

Okay I will share :unsure: I DO DANCE IN THE RAIN :P :P I have shown both my grandsons how to jump in puddles and sing in the rain. We put on our rain coats and their little rain boots and off we go. My oldest was so happy he would not come in the house after 45minutes in the rain B)

I was afraid he would get sick, but we did laugh and I got once in a lifetime pictures of his first puddle and dancing in the rain. He is now 6 and he still loves it.

All my family does. I taught them well :laugh:

Have to run hope to see you in chat later :)

Hugs

:P does that answer for you?
What a mess!!
Matt was trying to stay clear!
Did you see the cake on the rug??? What do they care...they were leaving the next day! :ohmy:
I know...I know...they cleaned up til 3:30 am :)
