I guess that rumor is false! At least it is if we believe the Bunim/Murray web site!

when they quit shooting for the summer what happens to the houseguests they just send them home and put their lives on hold until the camera's roll again or do they start with a whole new cast???????

Curious type of question.

Hi crazyjaney

Guess you are a first time watcher this season.

The ladies will all graduate before season ends.

The only reason Josie came back this year was because she came into the starting over house at the last minute.

They told her if she wanted back she could come next season. so she took advantage of the offer to complete her healing and growing as a new mother

Welcome to the site I know you will like the ladies here!

ahhhh kind of like in school with the mad scramble to get the exams done before graduation the life coaches are working overtime to getting everybody out of the house before the season ends.....

Could you imagin how it must feel to be the last person to graduate /???

i don't know for me it would feel like a failure that everyone else left before you kind of like short bus syndrome

Hi Janey

I like your inquisitiveness about SO! I don't know what episode the reruns on TLC are on but if you can, check them out. IMO, they were much better shows than these current ones are.

I don't know if those reruns are from the Chicago House but when everyone left & JOSIE & CHLOE were only ones left --- the LAST show of that season ---- it was SO VERY VERY SAD for me to watch it! I honestly CRIED, thinking of her left there with the friends she made GONE!

It was all good tho cuz she did have an apt already picked out to go to during the season break! It was just the REALITY of it, you know.

I don't feel that this group of women in there now has anywhere NEAR the Bond roommates in the past have had.

Happy Watching!

Yes but they play scrabble together and being a scrabble geek it gives me a warm spot in my heart when i see the girls playing and bonding together over a board game.
