web surfing found this:

Emergency Board of Review April 28th

According to an insider, April 28th will be a thrilling episode.

'The life coaches and Dr. Stan hold an emergency board of review to determine whether one of the women should be asked to leave the house. ', she says. Mark you calendars for the 28th.

This is also stated in those weeks of Spoilers I posted.

But if you read in those Spoilers, all the SOGs are accounted for after the BOR!

Tricky! the producers are!!

that's what I thought...so nobody is asked to leave, but someone put on probation perhaps? Apparently Rhonda said in some interview that they "may have to kick someone else out" this season and there's not that much left of the season...so probation for NOW???

:dry: That's the 2nd time the sg's wanted someone to leave via a vote (remember 1st season when Lori stuck her neck out and the LCs ignored the vote?)

I heard this is going to happen again. I wish the LCs wouldn't ask for a vote if they don't intend to honour the outcome. :(
