
Previews May 8-12

Posted by mydogkat - 2006/04/28 11:06

May 8
Iyanla leads the women in a discussion about self-sufficiency; Dr. Stan talks to Sommer about her body image; Antonia makes the final preparations for her poetry reading.

May 9
The remnants of Jodi's mask oddly appear in her bedroom; Niambi decides to call "Mr. Situation," but the phone is mysteriously disconnected; Antonia is given the task of decorating a guest room; the women throw a surprise party for Cassie.

May 10
Niambi sends an e-mail to "Mr. Situation"; Christie finds a sponsor for the 5K race; Antonia goes over budget on her purchases for the guest room; Christie meets with an attorney who had a difficult childhood.

May 11
Sommer learns a sensual dance to perform for the housemates; Antonia begins to paint the guest room; the housemates go out to dinner to celebrate Jodi's graduation.

May 12
Iyanla tells the women that Jodi will be staying in the house for awhile to help Christie; Niambi thinks that Christie is self-righteous; Antonia finishes decorating the room; Jodi gets a makeover for her graduation.

Sounds like Jodi is the next Layne staying after she graduates. The season is coming to an end. I think there is only one week after this week.

Thanks bunches! I've been wondering if the show caused the previews to be dried up on purpose. I agree there isn't much left.

I think the 5 k Christie is organizing is part of the season finale..

Hi all - Im new to the site but have been a avid SO fan since the first season - I think it will be hard to adjust if they decide to cancel the show. I feel bad that I join the site right at what may be the end of SO - Maybe we will get sometime new to watch and chat about.

Have a great weekend all Right! When I got to the first part of May 12th, "Layne" was the first word that popped into my mind. "Fatlayne" actually. I don't think keeping Jodi on as Christie's "mentor" is going to be a good idea. Jodi gets into other people's business too much as it is. Why enable her?

I am really surprised that Jodi is graduating before Christie. I think that Christie has made enormous progress and Jodi has not. Oh well, to bad it is not my decision who graduates...lol.

Christie is probably working on her final exercise/goal... The SO 5k race... I agree she has done great. Not to take away from Jodi.. Jodi really has made alot of progress too. Emotionally and also healing her relationship with her dad and gaining a proper perspective of the dynamics of those in her life.

I wonder what happens that makes Niambi think Christie is "self-righteous"?

I hope there aren't anymore fights this season, I just don't think I could take the drama of it all.

Too much cat fighting. I guess that is what makes the TV ratings. But I do love this show and the women, mostly, after all, for crying out loud! Haven't they been just about like the rest of us more or less? I don't want this show to end!

Same here. It's all nice to hear how Oprah has overcome her background and all. But for most of us, we don't end up on the tube as multi-millionaire talkshow divas. Most of the hg's are just regular women working out life problems lots of us have or had at some point. That's the attraction, for me. What happens when you just stop - no men, no kids - for a little while, and consider who you are, where you've been, and what you want to do about/with/in spite of it all? It goes with our biology to be all wrapped up in other people for huge chunks of our lives. We put ourselves aside so much in order to cope with all that, that it's just great to get to see some women take a different path and really invest in themselves.

misstisam I agree with you. I was wondering over a week ago why they were draggiing out Christie's graduation when she has already accomplished so much and, scared or not, seems ready to put what she has learned into practice. I feel that they are inventing new tasks for her to keep her in the House, probably because she is so helpful to the LCs in working with the other HGs. And it gives some continuity to the show instead of a house full of newbies. But Christie seems to have gone further than Jodi and IF this was a comparison situation (and I guess it isn't in the LCs' opinions), Christie would graduate first.

I read on one of these message boards that Christie & Rhonda knew each other before Christie came into the starting over house. So I'm sure she's there for Rhonda, whatever that may be...in house lc...etc.

Also, this is a house full of women, so, you have to expect disagreements, it's enevitable.

hooters, did it say how Christie and Rhonda knew each other before SO, where they met, etc.?

Cristie has admitted that she is scared she still could fall back into her old habits, and as far as Jodi being her mentor, it could be she is staying just to help with the 5K race, I hope that's the only reason.:unsure:

Valtina, I believe it mentioned that she was in one of her books. I guess that means she was seeing her for some type of therapy. I do like Christie, but, knowing that she knew her before hand, I don't know, seems maybe a little shady to me??? JMO!!

I think I heard that Christy was mentioned in Rhonda's last book that was just published in March (I believe)... Taping of the show wrapped up in Jan.

I don't know in what context Rhonda refers to Christy, but I imagine it would be in the context of look how she was trying to make over her body through the wrong methods and look how she accomplished her goals by stretching her endurance level through regular exercise.

I think because Christy's story was similar to Rhondas regarding alcohol and drug addictions...Rhonda has probably become her AA sponsor (many here have speculated that)...

But we know she came into the house pretty early in her sobriety.

I don't think they had any long term relationship at that point. Maybe Rhonda met her at a AA meeting and thought she'd be a good potential hg for SO.

I think Rhonda was working on the book in the course of SO3...and why Christy could have been included as a case in point.. I think the book is about weight issues.
