Taping wrap up date change

I saw somewhere at one point that the taping for the show wrapped up on the 23rd of Jan. Now I'm seeing in Rhonda's blog that it wrapped up on the 18th.... Christy's 5K race was on the 9th.

I know they'll have to start condensing a whole lot of the stories pretty quickly now...

I sure hope the editing makes sense!

Here is a link to Rhonda's blog. It mentions her being sick over the holidays and an apparent break she was enjoying (cept for the flu of course!). I would imagine the whole house had some sort of a break at that point too.

She hasn't had a new post in quite a while. I am keeping an eye out for it.. to see if she says anything about the end of the show. And I don't mean Season 3....

I honestly have no idea.

There is no hint of the 5k race having happened through the the 19th.. (the last week of previews)... but preparations are still being done obviously if Christie is worried on one of those days.

Last year the show wrapped up near the end of May. Rhonda mentions in her blog that she knows what is going to happen through May...(but she wasn't going to tell!) (Same blog entry mentioning the last date of taping.)

I noticed that the SO website has no episode guide entries today and no new previews seem to extend beyond the 19th at this point. They may have purposely done that to keep people tuned in. You can glean alot from the previews. Especially in that it is wrapping up all the womens storylines.

I just had a thought.... Even though they may have taped through the 18th.. Some of that could have just been filler stuff like the confessionals to help tell the stories.

I would think there may be only 1 more week beyond the 19th...

The following week after that would extend into June..

But I am just wildly guessing... and trying to put 2 and 2 together.
So often, that is fruitless as far as this show is concerned.

I have a hunch that somehow they'll still tie the 5k race into the grand finale... That was a rumor someone mentioned a couple months ago...and that alot of former hg's will be present. Perhaps because of the 5k race or because this could be the end of the road formally of SO. It would be hard to do it in a single episode so maybe they'll do it over the last several days.

Hmmm... I just hope that they don't left us hanging with Antonia and Niambi's stories since the show in not coming back next season. I really don't see Niambi graduating anytime soon.

Instead of airing reruns in summer, they should show us all the other footages they didn't before.

I think Niambe needs longer than this season has left. Its a shame how they rush the last ones thru, they did that last year with Meg.

When on earth is Christie going to graduate, I think she is further along than Jodi.
