
Scuffle on the set

Posted by 1putter - 2006/10/12 13:42

:ohmy: Did everyone hear about the apparent scuffle on the set between Isaiah Washington and Patrick Dempsey? I thought it was strange because in our local paper yesterday, (The Seattle Times) there was an article about the male cast members being here to film a segment where they go on a camping trip. Apparently the cast members were mobbed outside their hotel here and handled the situation so well, signing autographs and being very nice to the crowd, especially Patrick Dempsey and Isaiah W. At one point a witness said that Isaiah was actually coaching the crowd to say, "Dempsey" after he chanted, "Patrick" getting all the ladies, (and some men even) shouting out his name. Anyway it sounded like they had definitely made up by then, (unless it happened AFTER that?)

Supposedly the actress that plays Addison was also here filming scenes on the ferry. The rest of the cast was back in LA I guess.

I don't know what show you're talking about.....I'm not familiar with those names??? It could be that I'm just having a hard time placing the names and would recognize the faces??

I just happened to see an online newspiece about the scuffle. Doesn't appear to have been much...

Yeah, sorry, I thought I was posting this on the Grey's Anatomy post.

Turns out, ABC is trying very hard to downplay the incident to so you aren't going to hear much about it but the two actors got into a scuffle, (Isaiah Washington had Patrick Dempsey in a throat choke hold over his sticking up for another actor, (McSteamy?) being late for the shoot.

Anyway, sounds like it ended up being "much ado about nothing".

The panel discussed a little bit of this on The View. Barbara said it was interesting that one of the men (Dempsey or Washington) had stated on The View that years ago he had a temper problem that had gotten him into trouble at work or school, but he had dealt with it since then. I didn't catch which man it was, because BOTH of them have been on the show recently. I didn't pay attention to the full interview of these men so I don't recall which one said this.

Anyone remember?
