Any comments on this seasons show?

Isn't Erica a piece of work?

I don't know why I enjoy the show, but for some reason I do!

Erica sure is a piece of work... what was she thingking behaving nutso on TV.

I cannot see him with any of these women... too young for him... too immature... cannot put my finger on it. The Italian girl seems the sharpest, but because of language... I don't see it as going further.

It's amazing the distain the Italian girl has for the American girls... I wonder if it is competition, or the immaturity of most of the American girls.

I was really surprised to see that he could not speak a word of proper Italian, especially being born in Milan and lived in Rome.

It would be nice if more Americans spoke other languages... me included. It seems people outside the United States do speak more than one language.

I saw last nights show... it's sad how emotional the women are about getting "the rose." I wonder if they want the rose more than they want the prince. LOL He seems like a nice guy... being a prince is a plus, but I don't see him falling head over heels for anyone just yet.

I'm rooting for Sadie... there's just something about her that I like.

I like Sadie too I think she is one of the prettiest girls there. I like the fact that she spoke out about saving herself for marriage.

I found this site seems that Sadie is / or was a model.

Hi Nadia... thanks for the link.

Sadie is still my favorite, but I'm still not seeing more than polite friendship.

Where's the chemistry? LOL

I guess Lisa won't wearing her dress to the final rose ceremony HAHAHAHA :lol: I'm glad she's gone!

So it's between Sadie & Jennifer they are both great girls.

Last nights show was catty, but fun.

I'm still puzzled about Erica... I wonder if she realizes how she is coming across... she behaved like a complete jerk. She is so full of herself... does she not realize how unattractive her attitude and behavior is?

I'm still rooting for Saddie, but I would be surprised if the relationship goes much beyond the show.
