
Dr. Ablow's show 10/27 RE: Reality shows

I just tuned into it... and caught my attention. Seems he is going to examine the phenom of reality tv. I saw Christopher Knight and his wife on (I think taped from an earlier show..) also Omorosa.. I think some of it will focus on people's addiction or desire for drama and 15 minutes of fame..

I will watch it and try to give a better overview later.. For those where the show comes on later in the day, you might try to catch it..

Might appeal to the SOT fanbase.. It might give some insight on why B/M went the direction they did... (Idiots! :angry:)

Show was interesting.. (still 15 minutes left..) but nothing earth shattering.

It was said by one women who had been on Joe Millionaire..that she got sucked into the show on another premise... and the real goals of the show didn't surface until after she'd already signed the contract.. She also said they added alot to the footage.. to make it seem like things happened that didn't... (in her case.. intimacy that didn't take place..) Nothing was shown and just noise to imply something was taking place.

She seemed to have been very humiliated by the whole ordeal.. She said they were bored to tears because they didn't allow music or tv.. No wonder so much drama was stirred up on some of these shows! (boredom and frustration!)

One family that was on the show today..was a couple who had Paris and Nicole stay with them. The family said how they got involved.. I guess they were looking to highlight their farm and earn money to keep it going.. They signed on..not knowing who they were bringing in there. They also said how spoiled Paris is...and that Nicole was the one who tried to get Paris to do things.. They seemed to have liked Nicole..even though Nicole was arrested for heroin in the process. The family seemed interested in doing a book about the whole ordeal..

One other note about tomorrow's Dr. Ablow show...

Showed a few clips.. For those who enjoy Big World, Little People... Inside the world of little people is the topic. The other family that was highlighted on TLC (they had an autistic daughter, the mother was a teacher..) Several other couples/families will be on the show as well. Some are mixed !
