Not airing until April...

but cast is announced..

http://www.realitytvmagazine.com/blog/2006/11/celebrity_fit_c.html#more

Only name 2 names I recognize is Maureen McCormack (Brady Bunch) and Ross Mathews from the Tonight Show (the Intern)...

I only post this because I know there were at least a couple of us who enjoyed season 4...

I think this article said it was the leanest of the 5 seasons.. I guess more of the recruits have moderate amounts of weight to lose.. Which should help even out the competitions... I think...

I didn't notice these names of new contestants when it was posted here, but looked it up after seeing Leno last night.

Ross the Intern was on doing interviews at the Golden Globes last night. He looked GREAT. Someone asked Ross what was he doing and about his weight and he said with a big smile "Celebrity Fit Club." I'm not sure where they are in process of the show but, Ross looks terrific. You can tell he is really working hard at something.

I just adore him. He could really make that show funnier than ever. Plus, he has a huge heart. He was the guy I posted about who said Starting Over was his favorite show. He said it on the Tonight Show. This was during a time when we were all campaigning to keep SO from being cancelled. I tried to solicit Ross to see if he could help us with NBC, but, there was a problem with his e-mail and I was not able to reach him.

I can't wait to see the new season of Fit Club. I don't think Ross will disappoint.
