Checkout Oxygen.com for a new clip. They might be in high gear drumming up interest in their new show.. My cable lineup dropped Oxygen a couple months ago but recently got taken over by another cable provider.. so hopefully they'll revamp what's available.. I'm not going to grieve if I don't see it.. I know you all will keep me posted! LOL! With it being on at night.. not sure if I would try to watch it... Not quite a family program from what I can tell..

Is anyone seeing promo ads for the show on Oxygen?

I checked tivo and yahoo tv listings..and they have no details about the show.. Tivo isn't picking up anything (as of yesterday) and yahoo only shows that a 'pilot' is showing... Looks like it might be airing 4 different times next week.. All episode #101.

All my tivo shows in "Pilot" also, repeated several times on Oxygen. I think this is just an attempt for a more drama and ratings grabbing version of SO to attract a younger crowd. We all know that t.v. shows are only successful if they have the ratings. I attempted to watch Real World.....the season with Janice Dickinson (what a lovely example of a wonderful single mom, eh?) and didn't like it. I don't know if it's the whole show I didn't like or just because of who was on it.

Seems they are having new clips shown each day...

More of the same behaviors...

If you've seen one, you've seen them all!
