

---

Survivor!

Posted by KPW1956 - 2006/08/25 13:52

---

I don't know if anyone has heard this yet or not... but I am a bit surprised that Survivor (supposedly based on my news radio station) is planning on dividing the teams by race. And I don't mean the 100 yard dash!

I am surprised that they would try to do that... I think it could promote more controversy than entertainment..

Maybe that is what they are striving for! Maybe they feel a minority will have a more equal chance of winning.

Maybe I'm missing the point! I'd just hate for any of the teams to be pitted against each other like that!

We know how hostile the environment can be normally... Maybe Survivor feels they have to up the ante to draw back a bigger share of the audience... Weren't they the first major reality show on network tv?

=====

Re:Survivor!

Posted by Debby - 2006/08/25 17:00

---

You may be right KPW. Survivor has been around awhile and it has kept up a large audience. I have watched some seasons and not others. I think I have just about seen all I need to of people surviving in the outback or on a deserted island.

I saw a little segment last night about the upcoming season. The teams are divided into 4 groups: African American, Asian, White and Hispanic. I hope I stated this correctly. I know some are very picky with the exact wording of ethnic groups, but I think I stated it the way the show described it.

They even showed the contestants, which I guess by now, they already know who the last 2 were, since the show is taped in advance, the only thing remaining is announcing the winner.

I find the idea in very poor taste and even offensive. It seems to me the show is trying to see which race is superior. Even though the tribes will eventually merge into one at the end, the break down of how many of this group or that group is left to merge, reminds me of something a supremacist would conjure up. I'm really surprised and hope that the public voices its concern.

I realize that I am not the judge of what is appropriate broadcasting nor the one to tell others what to watch, but, as a viewer, I think I should state my mind about what is out there when I find it offensive. Perhaps I should wait and watch the show before putting it down, but, I really don't think I could do that.

=====

Re:Survivor!

Posted by mazzy - 2006/08/25 21:16

---

Ratings, ratings, ratings... it's all about ratings. Survivor has accomplished what they set out to do... cause controversey. I heard brief discussions on CNN and a few other network news shows plus ET.

I generally enjoy watching survivor... my husband and I are fans, but I agree this season seems to be done in very poor taste. I will watch and judge for myself, but I'm not too comfortable with the separation of teams by race.

=====

Re:Survivor!

Posted by grizzlys4 - 2006/08/25 23:37

---

mazzy wrote:

Ratings, ratings, ratings... it's all about ratings. Survivor has accomplished what they set out to do... cause controversey. I heard brief discussions on CNN and a few other network news shows plus ET.

I generally enjoy watching survivor... my husband and I are fans, but I agree this season seems to be done in very poor taste. I will watch and judge for myself, but I'm not too comfortable with the separation of teams by race.

---

I'm right there with ya, mazzzy.....oh well, I guess there are plenty of other shows for me to watch, eh?????!!!!!! :woohoo: ;)

=====

Re:Survivor!

Posted by tudin_girl - 2006/08/26 00:19

---

I think this is going to be one of those things that gets talked about a whole lot and then turns out not to be much at all.

I don't think they will even keep the tribes seperated that long. I think this was a publicity stunt to make sure everyone tunes in especially with all the reality tv craze out there.

Race is such a touchier issue, but there was alot of talk when they did the women vs. men also.

=====

Re:Survivor!

Posted by KPW1956 - 2006/08/26 00:36

---

Tudin Girl... You could be right.

I am sure the contestants had to agree up front to do this too... Maybe they think each team will work harder and create more cohesive teams and alliances. I have only seen bits and pieces of the show the last couple years. I actually only saw the bulk of survivor 2 in the Outback. And then some of the latter part of the season with Amber and Rob...

With so many reality shows.. they all start looking alike.. and I don't really even bother.. I'm probably not alone..in that thought. But just the thought that they are drumming up this story line is bothersome. It may wind up being nothing.. but a publicity gimmick! For me,, it's still not enough to get me to watch... I don't think... I'll never say 'never'... My daughter is a Survivor fan and more often than not that's how I get suckered into some shows and movies..

=====

Re:Survivor!

Posted by tudin_girl - 2006/08/26 23:26

---

I agree with you there, they probably had some inclination of what they were signing up for...I mean if they didn't this could really blow up in CBS's face. And I think it is just to get more people in to watch...like you said there are so many reality shows out there to choose from.

Survivor was my first reality show. I've watched every season, some twice when they were re airing them on OLN. I've always liked it, but after what 12 seasons they really need to think of something different or they are going to lose their audience, but I don't think using race is a good way to keep their viewers happy. Right now Survivor and Big Brother are my ONLY reality tv...I wouldn't even have time for another one...lol.

=====

Re:Survivor!

Posted by Nadia - 2006/08/28 17:47

---

KPW1956 wrote:

I don't know if anyone has heard this yet or not... but I am a bit surprised that Survivor (supposedly based on my news radio station) is planning on dividing the teams by race. And I don't mean the 100 yard dash!

I am surprised that they would try to do that... I think it could promote more controversy than entertainment..

---

Maybe that is what they are striving for! Maybe they feel a minority will have a more equal chance of winning.

Maybe I'm missing the point! I'd just hate for any of the teams to be pitted against each other like that!

We know how hostile the environment can be normally... Maybe Survivor feels they have to up the ante to draw back a bigger share of the audience... Weren't they the first major reality show on network tv?

Thanks for the INFO KPW.... funny how I haven't heard anything yet... I guess I've been too busy.

Do you know when it starts??

:huh:

---

Survivor

Posted by Nadia - 2006/08/30 23:07

---

Survivor premieres on Thursday, Sept. 14 can't wait!

---

Re:Survivor

Posted by mazzy - 2006/08/31 07:58

---

Me too. LOL

---

Re:Survivor

Posted by Nadia - 2006/08/31 11:40

---

Just IN!

I rec'd this email just now from RealityNewsOnline.

Survivor: Cook Islands

As mentioned earlier, Survivor is drawing plenty of attention several weeks before it will even air! Many people in the media are blasting it, and even politicians are calling for it to be pulled without airing.

:ohmy: :ohmy: :ohmy:
not good.

---

Re:Survivor

Posted by mazzy - 2006/08/31 12:09

---

WOW... now I really want to see it... to judge for myself, and just because I'm plain old curious. LOL

---

Re:Survivor

Posted by admin - 2006/08/31 17:10

---

I heard that GM pulled their sponsorship of the show.

---

Re:Survivor

Posted by KPW1956 - 2006/08/31 17:44

---

I think I heard that too. The radio news program I heard today said (I think if I heard it right) that it was a decision not tied in with the controversy.. and had been made earlier. Also I hear they or another company sent a letter to the show pleading with them to reconsider... But if this is getting ready to air... They've already done whatever it is they did... I just hope it was done tastefully and without the teams becoming especially hostile because of it..

Here is an Associated Press piece that I heard about on the radio.

http://news.yahoo.com/s/ap/20060831/ap\_en\_tv/gm\_survivor

=====

Re:Survivor

Posted by mazzy - 2006/08/31 18:04

---

My guess is that the producers created the new format for initial controversy. Survivor is not a Jerry Springer type format... nor are the guests/survivors.

=====

Re:Survivor

Posted by grizzlys4 - 2006/08/31 19:40

---

Yep, I do find myself interestedly awaiting the new season to see if the hype is actually all that!!!

Oh yeah.....and because I'm a Reality Show junkie!!! ;)

=====

Re:Survivor

Posted by KPW1956 - 2006/09/14 11:56

---

Ok Survivor fans... Tonight is the first night of the new season! Hope to see some chat tomorrow regarding how the separation of tribes by race works out.

Will it add more animosity or create better working teams?

=====

Re:Survivor

Posted by mazzy - 2006/09/14 19:01

---

My husband, my daughter, and I love watching Survivor... this is a regular family affair. LOL

=====

Re:Survivor

Posted by Nadia - 2006/09/14 19:19

---

Hey mazzy,
I am also a big time survivor fan, Johnny and I love watching the show. Should be interesting tonight!!!!:)

=====

Re:Survivor

Posted by grizzlys4 - 2006/09/14 22:22

---

---

I dunno.....what did you all think?? It didn't seem to be a huge deal to the contestants themselves. I think all the same dramas will exist in each tribes, actually. After all, IMO, humans are humans!

I will say I thought the first challenge wasn't all that intense and exciting. Hmmmmm.....well, I'll give it a few episodes to get to know the players and see if I can really get into it this season.

---

Re:Survivor

Posted by mазzy - 2006/09/15 07:13

grizzlys4 wrote:

I dunno.....what did you all think?? It didn't seem to be a huge deal to the contestants themselves. I think all the same dramas will exist in each tribes, actually. After all, IMO, humans are humans!

I will say I thought the first challenge wasn't all that intense and exciting. Hmmmmm.....well, I'll give it a few episodes to get to know the players and see if I can really get into it this season.

I think the racial hype was just that... hype. By some of the comments made... I think initially the contestants felt a certain "pressure" to represent their "group" in a positive light, but the job of surviving will prevail... the usual dramas will exist in each tribe as well as the quest for food, shelter and the big bucks. LOL

My husband thought the first show was bland... I was just happy the season began... enough of reruns... let the season begin... LOL

---

Re:Survivor

Posted by Debby - 2006/09/15 13:44

I decided to boycott the show so, I did. I did hear on the View that one of their makeup artist or hairstylist, was actually a contestant of the show. Of course, everyone is under contract to secrecy pending the full run of the show. They go back to their normal lives until the finale show when the top winner is voted on, so noone knows how you did on the program.

It would be wild if the girl from the View won it, with Elisabeth being a former contestant on that show as well.

---

Re:Survivor

Posted by Sistine - 2006/09/15 14:40

I thought the show was a terrible depiction of each "people"! The casting seemed to be focused on choosing people who promoted racial stereo types rather than just contestants who happened to be people of varying skin colors.

I also thought the editing promoted stereo types...especially for the African American tribe. I thought the caucasian came across as smug and elitist. But, then again, maybe that's how they are viewed by others.

Before you beat me up, let me provide a disclaimer that this was just my perception and my opinion.

---

Re:Survivor

Posted by Debby - 2006/09/15 16:54

Sistine, I think that my main concern is what if it so happens, that the Asian tribe starts winning all the challenges, it appears that Asians are somehow superior to the other races. Or what if the white team starts winning many of the challenges, does that mean the whites are superior to the others. It just doesn't set well with me. What if the people are voted off in an equal distribution? Does that mean that we are all equal after all?

---

Just the words, we are dividing people by race, then see what happens, makes my skin crawl. I consider myself open minded, but, when my gut says this goes against your sense of fairness, then I listen. That show, this season is just not right for me.

I'll make this my last post on the matter. I don't want to deprive those viewers who really enjoy the show of their space on the thread to discuss the events each week.

=====

Re:Survivor

Posted by mazzy - 2006/09/30 10:19

---

The racial separation of tribes seems to have been strictly hype. The four teams have been combined into two teams with the emphasis on separating the original teams. The job slash game of surviving has begun. I don't think it was a good idea to spin Survivor with the racial concept... it seems to have been strictly hype. Big mistake.

Oh well... let the game begin.

=====

Re:Survivor

Posted by grizzlys4 - 2006/10/03 14:40

---

I agree mazzy.....total hype for the first two weeks to try to push up the ratings. Then merge into two tribes and start fighting for alliances.

Seriously.....do ya think after 10 + shows these morons would QUIT already talking about "loyalty" "fairness" "trust" "honor".....blahblahblahblah??????????????

It's a GAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAMMMMMMMMMEEEEEEEEEEEEEE!!!!

Sheeeeeeeesh already! Then again.....maybe I'm just totally burning out on Survivor????? :blink: :S

=====

Re:Survivor

Posted by mazzy - 2006/10/03 19:39

---

I think if they want to push up the ratings... give more money to the top four or five survivors... and hype that.

It is easy to burn out on Survivor, but I must say it has become a family affair... my husband and I watch, my daughter watches, and a very good friend is also hooked. And of course my buds at SOT. Not ready to give this one up just yet. LOL

Let the games begin... I'm ready... LOL

B) B) B)

=====

Re:Survivor

Posted by grizzlys4 - 2006/10/03 22:57

---

I hear ya, mazzy!! I do hope they get some reward challenges going.....I like to see all the reactions for the luxuries!! I do think I'll be watching.....darn reality t.v. addiction!!!! :woohoo: :ohmy: ;) B)

---

=====

Re:Survivor

Posted by mazzy - 2006/10/06 19:42

---

Well, well, well... the ladies made a bold move to stick together... I think it may have been a wise move. What do you think Grizz?

=====

Re:Survivor

Posted by grizzlys4 - 2006/10/09 02:34

---

hey mazzy.....

I'm sooooo impressed they actually did it!!! And by the votes at the end of the show, a couple of the guys voted that way too!!

Hmmmm.....ya think they can stick it out and actually leave the guys in the dust this season???? ;) :laugh:

=====

Re:Survivor

Posted by mazzy - 2006/10/09 19:08

---

grizzlys4 wrote:
hey mazzy.....

I'm sooooo impressed they actually did it!!! And by the votes at the end of the show, a couple of the guys voted that way too!!

Hmmmm.....ya think they can stick it out and actually leave the guys in the dust this season???? ;) :laugh:

It's early for a prediction, but... my gut is telling me the "ladies team" will not make it. If the ladies make it to the merge, and they recruit the women on the other team... that would be interesting, and fun to watch, however, it would not benefit the women of the opposing team because they would be the first to go.

I think the other team will get further ahead... they seem to work together better, and I think they are better at puzzles and challenges that require smarts. LOL

PS... I got ahead of myself... I think the women may pull off getting to the merge by dropping the guys, but I think the other team will be too strong for them to go much past the merge. It would be fun to watch. I also think it is the smartest move on the ladies part... they did have the majority, and they were smart enough to take advantage of the situation. It seems that with all that brawn they still lost the challenges, and the macho guys would have dropped the ladies... so good move on the ladies part. LOL

Post edited by: mazzy, at: 2006/10/09 19:18

=====

Re:Survivor

Posted by grizzlys4 - 2006/10/09 22:56

---

I thought the same thing mazzy.....I was actually surprised the other team faltered. It is indeed interesting to watch all the dynamics!!!!

=====

Re:Survivor

Posted by mazzy - 2006/10/13 20:33

---

Well that was a surprise... I didn't see that coming... I didn't expect Stephanie to get voted off. I guess the women decided to keep the guys around for awhile... makes sense. If their numbers are down, and they merge... the guys will be the first to go. I don't see too much hope for these guys unless the women really do something stupid... like eliminating another woman. LOL

=====

Re:Survivor

Posted by grizzlys4 - 2006/10/15 02:03

---

I know, mazzy!!!

I keep thinking.....come on Gals.....stick together.....you can catch your own fish, you really can!!!!!! ;) :laugh:

=====

Re:Survivor!

Posted by bobcat - 2006/10/15 03:14

---

Will the ladies stick together? History says ...um...NOPE! Hoping to eat my words (but i don't think so) The fairer sex are cannibals. :kiss: :kiss:

=====

Re:Survivor!

Posted by Nadia - 2006/10/19 19:59

---

I'll be watching tonight! I've missed a show or two.

=====

Re:Survivor!

Posted by Nadia - 2006/10/19 20:44

---

cioboy/cowboy is gone yippy!!! I found him to be a little weirdo. :whistle:

=====

Re:Survivor!

Posted by Nadia - 2006/10/19 20:55

---

and Christine was voted out tonight

=====

Re:Survivor!

Posted by Nadia - 2006/10/21 20:47

---

talk about getting bored with some of the reality show's....
I use to be so faithful with survivor and this season i'm not into it. I use to rush home last year and the previous years and make it on time and drop what I was doing just to watch.
Now,..... not so much.

:side:

---

Re:Survivor!

Posted by mazzy - 2006/10/22 00:20

---

I agree... seems strange... I don't seem to know the survivors the way I did on previous seasons... no one seems especially likeable... something seems to be missing this season. I think the initial hype may have ruined the dynamics, but I'll continue to watch hoping for some of the old magic... LOL

---

---

Re:Survivor!

Posted by grizzlys4 - 2006/10/22 11:59

---

I think you're right mazzy. So much hype and it's really rather flat now. Oh well.....glad cowboy's gone!!

---

---

Re:Survivor!

Posted by bobcat - 2006/10/22 12:13

---

i think the thing is that there is less and less time for viewers to get to sorta know the players, commercials eat up more and more of it and ya start to lose interest. also, the players are generally being so careful NOT to be themselves that nobody is anybody.love him or hate him at least cowboy was himself.:unsure:

---

---

Re:Survivor!

Posted by mazzy - 2006/10/28 18:27

---

What a rip off... highlights of first six programs...

FLASH... the first six programs were not so exciting... did we really need to see these again? LOL

I keep waiting for the "old survivor magic."

B) B) B)

---

---

Re:Survivor!

Posted by grizzlys4 - 2006/10/28 22:20

---

I know!! I'm glad it wasn't a show though.....that station was down because of the blizzard and I would have missed it!! :ohmy:

I do hope it gets more exciting too.

---

---

Re:Survivor!

Posted by mazzy - 2006/11/09 23:40

---

What was Johnathan thinking switching sides? Big mistake... I thought for sure he was going home tonight. Do You think he thought his team may have been ready to let him loose? What's the story with Brad... did I miss something?

---

Was his team feeling threatened by him? Did they feel it was time to let him go because they have the numbers? Was this a wise move? What happens if Johnathan swings back to his original team?

Questions, questions... LOL

Now if only I could remember the survivors names.

I hope the team with the four remaining survivors pull it through... they are in big trouble if a merge comes up... I hope the merge will be delayed... it usually comes up when there are nine or ten survivors left.

Good show tonight... surprises... I love supprises. LOL

=====

Re:Survivor!

Posted by bobcat - 2006/11/10 00:50

---

Didn't care at all for Johnathan 's sneakiness ...lol...i hope he gets his butt handed to him next week. I am really starting to pull for little Oz though. He has shown himself to be smart,capable and a hardworker/provider---of course that spells death in this game (so unfair, *sigh*)

=====

Re:Survivor!

Posted by mazzy - 2006/11/10 02:34

---

bobcat wrote:

Didn't care at all for Johnathan 's sneakiness ...lol...i hope he gets his butt handed to him next week. I am really starting to pull for little Oz though. He has shown himself to be smart,capable and a hardworker/provider---of course that spells death in this game (so unfair, *sigh*)

Ozzie and Yul are my favorites to win.

=====

Re:Survivor!

Posted by grizzlys4 - 2006/11/10 16:58

---

I missed it.....I think my son tivoed it though, so I'll have to see. I kind of lost interest, hmmm, well, I guess I'll check it out and see if it rekindles anything.....I think Survivor needs a replacement show!

=====

Re:Survivor!

Posted by tudin_girl - 2006/11/10 23:55

---

mazzy wrote:

Ozzie and Yul are my favorites to win.

Those are my two favorites too!

I was totally shocked by the mutiny. I'm not so sure that was a smart move for either of them. Johnathan is just lucky that his new tribe was worried about Brad teaming back up with Yul and the woman when the merge happened. I was sorry to see him go, he seemed like a nice guy.

I'm glad Yul had the hidden idol..now if the four of them that are left on that tribe stick together, maybe if Johnathan is still there when they merge they can "use" him to help with the votes and then boot him for betraying his team...lol.

---

And I just gotta say I love Jeff. I loved when during the immunity challenge he said he was getting on Johnathan's nerves..lol.

=====

Re:Survivor!

Posted by tudin_girl - 2006/11/16 21:59

---

Well I didn't see that coming. I figured it would be something stupid, like the merge.

That would be rough..lol. I am so glad the 4 are kicking butt (can't remember their tribe name), but it's so funny to watch them beat em everytime!

=====

Re:Survivor!

Posted by bobcat - 2006/11/17 14:38

---

good on the four of them .....here's hoping they stay intact until the merge . And to think little ozzie's butt was saved by the other two jumping ship ...i'd like to see him take it all !!

=====

Re:Survivor!

Posted by Nadia - 2006/11/17 16:25

---

thanks for these lil updates from you guys.. I haven't been watching this year at all. I'm not so interested in it. :(

=====

Re:Survivor!

Posted by SimplyRed - 2006/11/18 22:16

---

:ohmy: . Wow can't believe that Johnathn and Candice are still here!
I would have voted them out before I voted my own tribe members.

=====

Re:Survivor!

Posted by SimplyRed - 2006/11/18 22:17

---

:ohmy: . Wow can't believe that Johnathn and Candice are still here!
I would have voted them out before I voted my own tribe members.

=====

Re:Survivor!

Posted by SimplyRed - 2006/11/18 22:18

---

:ohmy: . Wow can't believe that Johnathn and Candice are still here!
I would have voted them out before I voted my own tribe members.

=====

Re:Survivor!

---

Posted by grizzlys4 - 2006/11/18 22:26

---

Okay, okay, so my 13 yo son tivo'd it and wanted me to watch it with him.....daddy and sis cannot stand the show!!! I was getting bored this season, but it was actually a good one last nite with the twist of the message in a bottle!!

I sooooooooooooo thought Jonathan was out of there after the bottle was open. I think HE was shocked he still stayed. I will never understand the "logic" these tribes supposedly use??? :huh:

I'm totally rooting for the underdog tribe!!! They're doing great!!!!

---

Re:Survivor!

Posted by mazzy - 2006/11/21 21:00

---

I'm finally getting into Survivor... I'm also rooting for the underdog tribe... they are smart... they just need a little more luck... I'm not ready to see a merge just yet... LOL...

I think the other team had to keep Jonathan... they need him for the challenges... as well as for food. LOL

---

Re:Survivor!

Posted by tudin_girl - 2006/11/23 21:32

---

What the heck is wrong with Johnathan???? Does he not pay attention at the tribal councils when his name has been written down by his new tribemates??

Yul offered him a golden opportunity tonight and he has to think about it??? OMG

---

Re:Survivor!

Posted by Nadia - 2006/11/23 21:39

---

I am actually listening to what's going on right now and Ozzy just won individual immunity

---

Re:Survivor!

Posted by tudin_girl - 2006/11/23 21:48

---

Johnathan better wise up..he thinks Adam and Candace have his back...lol. He is going to be so pissed when he gets voted off and sees what's happened.

That's the most frustrating part of watching this show..WE know what's going on...they just think they know what's going on...lmao

---

Re:Survivor!

Posted by tudin_girl - 2006/11/23 21:57

---

OH the looks on their faces. Adam and Candace and that other girl know they are screwed now. Johnathan really has no choice but to stick with Yul now....I was really hoping Adam would go, dang.

I'm so glad Yul did not have to use his idol. Whew!!

---

All of those people better be watching Adam and Candace, they don't seem to be seeing them as a threat right now..can we say Rob and Amber people?

I was sad to see Nate go that way, but I am rooting for Yul and Ozzy, so if it had to be then it had to be.

Post edited by: tudin_girl, at: 2006/11/23 21:59

=====

Re:Survivor!

Posted by mazzy - 2006/11/24 01:57

Yes... what a night... LOL

I found myself talking to the TV... Johnathan tried to convince everyone to not vote for Yul because of the possibility that he may have the immunity idol, and no one wanted to hear it... isn't that strange? I loved the looks of shock on everyones faces when Nate was voted out. LOL... Nate sure didn't see that coming... he was furious.

Finally... the show is coming back to life... I couldn't be happier with the turn of events... LOL

=====

Re:Survivor!

Posted by tudin_girl - 2006/11/30 22:22

It always makes me LMAO when these sore losers start talking about how they got screwed. Candace whining tonight is just typical of how the contestants most usually act on this show.

I would say to sweet little Candace, were you not going to screw Johnathan over the first chance you had?? LOL, It's a game for a MILLION bucks, not summer camp. I don't think Johnathan would have left the other tribe, but he was loyal to Candace and since she did, he followed.

I think Yul and Ozzy and the other three have managed to really play this game well. They went in, odds against them, and now they are on top. Good for them.

And the jury seems to forget they HAVE to vote for someone...lol. Nate's encouragement of their ragging on Johnathan tonight was typical LOSER behavior, he should be ashamed for not being a gracious loser and a poor sport. YOU got outplayed MAN, get over it. The only thing that bothers these jury members is they didn't get to do it first!

LOL, Man I love this show!! :whistle: ;)

=====

Re:Survivor!

Posted by grizzlys4 - 2006/11/30 23:02

I know!!!!

That's the single biggest thing I want to shout thru the t.v. screen.....

"Other contestants are NOT disloyal and untrustworthy just because they did to you first what you were planning on doing to them!!!".....:S :silly: :unsure: :ohmy: :P :side: :blink:

=====

Re:Survivor!

Posted by Nadia - 2006/12/01 09:45

---

I actually watched it last night.. nothing else to watch LOL.. the kiss that candice gave omg I was ok enough already !!!
LOL

=====

Re:Survivor!

Posted by mazzy - 2006/12/02 00:02

---

tudin_girl wrote:

It always makes me LMAO when these sore losers start talking about how they got screwed. Candace whining tonight is just typical of how the contestants most usually act on this show.

I would say to sweet little Candace, were you not going to screw Johnathan over the first chance you had?? LOL, It's a game for a MILLION bucks, not summer camp. I don't think Johnathan would have left the other tribe, but he was loyal to Candace and since she did, he followed.

I think Yul and Ozzy and the other three have managed to really play this game well. They went in, odds against them, and now they are on top. Good for them.

And the jury seems to forget they HAVE to vote for someone...lol. Nate's encouragement of their ragging on Johnathan tonight was typical LOSER behavior, he should be ashamed for not being a gracious loser and a poor sport. YOU got outplayed MAN, get over it. The only thing that bothers these jury members is they didn't get to do it first!

LOL, Man I love this show!! :whistle: ;)

Love this show too. I watch with my husband... it was pretty dull this season until recently. Now... it's the survivor show I know and love... LOL

Nadia... Candice was more interested in the "kissing game" than the survivor game... LOL

=====

Re:Survivor!

Posted by mazzy - 2006/12/08 22:25

---

Well I suppose this group of survivors hit a new low... not willing to share food... hiding food...

On the other hand... some are too lazy to help with the chores...

This group keeps turning on each other... LOL... doesn't seem to be limited to Johnthan... oh well... bye, bye Johnthan.

This is the game of survivor... I'm too sweet... LOL... I would never last... LOL

Post edited by: mazzy, at: 2006/12/08 22:27

=====

Re:Survivor!

Posted by mazzy - 2006/12/08 22:25

---

Oops... sorry for the "triple post"

Post edited by: mazzy, at: 2006/12/08 22:30

=====

Re:Survivor!

Posted by mazzy - 2006/12/08 22:25

---

---

Post edited by: mazzy, at: 2006/12/08 22:32

=====

Re:Survivor!

Posted by grizzlys4 - 2006/12/09 03:53

---

I know! I'd get kicked off (that is if they EVER would take a fat girl anyway....lol) for smuggling my diet coke.....cannot live without it!!!! :P

Yeah, there's several of them I hope do not win!!

=====

Re:Survivor!

Posted by mazzy - 2006/12/09 10:02

---

grizzlys4 wrote:

I know! I'd get kicked off (that is if they EVER would take a fat girl anyway....lol) for smuggling my diet coke.....cannot live without it!!!! :P

Yeah, there's several of them I hope do not win!!

Grizz... I've been reading disturbing things about the ingredients in diet soda... this coming from someone who was a diet coke junkie. My husband and I have given up diet soda completely.

=====

Re:Survivor!

Posted by mazzy - 2006/12/14 19:18

---

I think Yul and Ozzy had been playing well when the odds were against them... now that they are on top seems like they are either not focused or are getting ready to turn on each other. Big mistake...

Should be a good show tonight.

=====

Re:Survivor!

Posted by mazzy - 2006/12/14 19:26

---

grizzlys4 wrote:

I know! I'd get kicked off (that is if they EVER would take a fat girl anyway....lol) for smuggling my diet coke.....cannot live without it!!!! :P

Yeah, there's several of them I hope do not win!!

Grizz,

I think you would do great on Survivor... I can see you charming everyone... I can see everyone feeling safe around you, and I can see them being voted out before you. You have my vote. LOL

=====

Re:Survivor!

Posted by mazzy - 2006/12/14 22:29

---

Whew... Ozzy won immunity... I'm afraid everyone may have turned on him tonight if he didn't win. He is a threat to all... he is superior in most challenges... he has my vote to win.

Yul is a politician... LOL... he has my vote for Mayor of Survivor... LOL. He is playing the jury...

I'm starting to dislike the little crafty one... can't remember her name... I can see her pushing to eliminate Ozzy... she doesn't appear to be a threat, however, it would not be the first time a weak, crafty person has won... be careful of the crafty one... boys. LOL

---

Re:Survivor!

Posted by grizzlys4 - 2006/12/15 02:57

---

Oh soooooooooo true!!! Remind me to teach my boy to beware the crafty girls when he's old enough to date!!!

Yeah, I kinda like Ozzy too. I'd be happy if he or Yul won. Yeah...I can see Yul as Mayor!!!

Awwww.....thanks for your vote mazzy.....they'd totally wanna keep me as I am in no way, shape or form a physical threat!!! :woohoo: Well, I could always sit on them and flatten them out those skinny little ones!!! :blink: :ohmy: :laugh: ;) B) :P

---

Re:Survivor!

Posted by bobcat - 2006/12/15 13:01

---

Ozzy or Yul..... how difficult for the jury if it comes down to those two ...lol

i sincerely admire the game they have played .....so far anyway ...cant wait for windup

---

Re:Survivor!

Posted by tudin_girl - 2006/12/17 00:28

---

I was so relieved when Ozzy won immunity. I really like him and I hope he wins. I like Yul too and think he has really played an awesome game, so I wouldn't mind seeing both in final two. I was just so glad that Parvati was voted out....that girl got on my nerves.

I can't wait until Sunday.

---

Re:Survivor!

Posted by mazzy - 2006/12/17 07:38

---

I'm looking forward to tonight's show too. Tudin_girl... glad you stopped in... it's always more fun to discuss the show with a group of fans.

My vote goes to Ozzy first... Yul second place... If anyone else wins it will be a major upset. We need to watch out for the little, crafty one... still can't remember her name. LOL.

---

Re:Survivor!

Posted by tudin_girl - 2006/12/17 22:16

---

Nice twist I think having 3 in the final. If I had to pick between Becky and Sundra I would vote out Becky. Mainly because I remember her trying to get Ozzy out :angry:

I really thought Ozzy was going to fall in that last immunity challenge. I was actually holding my breath for him. I'm so glad he won and now I hope he wins the whole thing.

I wonder if the jury likes having a 3rd option? This could really mess things up for someone.

=====

Re:Survivor!

Posted by tudin_girl - 2006/12/17 22:18

---

Tudin_girl... glad you stopped in... it's always more fun to discuss the show with a group of fans.

Thanks!)

OMG..lmao. That tie breaker...that's a first in Survivor history! The rest looked like they are about to fall asleep.

Running out of matches...lmao!! After what 2 hours?? What do ya wanna bet one of the producers came in and poured some gasoline on Becky's fire just to get it over with?? How funny!

Post edited by: tudin_girl, at: 2006/12/17 22:22

=====

Re:Survivor!

Posted by mazzy - 2006/12/19 02:04

---

tudin_girl wrote:

Tudin_girl... glad you stopped in... it's always more fun to discuss the show with a group of fans.

Thanks!)

OMG..lmao. That tie breaker...that's a first in Survivor history! The rest looked like they are about to fall asleep.

Running out of matches...lmao!! After what 2 hours?? What do ya wanna bet one of the producers came in and poured some gasoline on Becky's fire just to get it over with?? How funny!

Post edited by: tudin_girl, at: 2006/12/17 22:22

Hi Tudin_girl,

No upset here... LOL... no vote for Becky... no surprise. Happy to see Ozzy and Yul up against each other... they both played a great game. Happy to see their entire team made it to the final four... they all deserved to be there.

The season started off slow, but I found myself holding my breath several times from the time Candice and Johnthan jumped ship... LOL

=====

---

Re:Survivor!

Posted by Nadia - 2006/12/19 12:14

---

I am happy for Yul I did catch some of the shows and Yul played a great game.

Congrats to him. :)

=====

Re:Survivor!

Posted by tudin_girl - 2006/12/20 01:48

---

I wonder what 3rd place got...did anyone hear? I know 2nd place gets 100,000.

I also wonder what they would ever do in the event of a tie for the million..it's never happened but it's been close most of the time.

The jury this season seemed much less bitter than in the past. There wasn't nearly as much whining at the final tribal council as in past seasons..lol. I really expected final three to get slammed. They were a little rough on Yul, but he handled it well.

I'm happy for Yul, he did play a great game. I would have voted for Ozzy though ;)

Now what am I going to watch on Thursday nights?? LOL

=====

Re:Survivor!

Posted by mazzy - 2006/12/20 08:47

---

tudin_girl wrote:

I wonder what 3rd place got...did anyone hear? I know 2nd place gets 100,000.

I also wonder what they would ever do in the event of a tie for the million..it's never happened but it's been close most of the time.

The jury this season seemed much less bitter than in the past. There wasn't nearly as much whining at the final tribal council as in past seasons..lol. I really expected final three to get slammed. They were a little rough on Yul, but he handled it well.

I'm happy for Yul, he did play a great game. I would have voted for Ozzy though ;)

Now what am I going to watch on Thursday nights?? LOL

Hi Tudin_girl,

I believe 3rd place gets $50,000 and 4th place gets $25,000... I remember hearing that on TV a few seasons back... I don't know why they kind of keep that a secret.

I also would have voted for Ozzy, but Yul played a great game also... compared to other seasons... the winner was very diplomatic and did not step on too many toes... LOL.

The end of Survivor will leave a Thursday night void for me too... LOL... in fact all the shows have had their season finale. The Apprentice will be back in January. I wonder when the next Survivor will begin... I haven't heard anything.

=====

---

totally do 2!!!!

=====

Re:Survivor!

Posted by tudin_girl - 2006/12/26 00:52

---

grizzlys4 wrote:

Since last season was my first time watching Big Brother I didn't know they only had one show a year???? They could totally do 2!!!!

:ohmy: :ohmy: :ohmy:

If they did two shows a year I would get nothing done thanks to the live feeds I spend ALL my time here when the show is on..what's that like 2 months? I would love 2 shows a year, I think hubby would get a little peeved though!! :P

=====