Oh my, I nearly spit out my drink!!!

Armed and Famous.....where celebrities (using that term loosely!!) learn how to become real cops!!
HAHAHAHAHAHAHA.....and they showed LaToya Jackson as one of them.

Now I know I'm soooooo pathetic, but I actually have the tivo set for the first episode 'cuz I just gottta see this!!!! :P

I saw the previews too. I think Jack Osbourne (Ozzy's son) is also one of the participants on that show if it is the one I am thinking about.

Jack has really changed since he was on the reality show with his family. He went to somewhere in Asia, I think, Thailand, and had a complete mental and physical transformation. He trained with martial arts and boxing professionals and lived in very modest housing....bare rooms with hardly anything in them, no air conditioning, basic diet, and very strenuous physical activities.

He seems to have really grown up into a different person. When I last saw him he was very lean and fit and had short hair. He was doing loads of mountain climbing and other adventures. I think he even hosted a show on some cable channel about outdoor adventure. He had a great attitude and was kind and respectful to his parents. I don't know what got hold of him but I was quite impressed. I am now curious as to how he will do on this new cop show. I had not heard Miss Jackson was also going to be on the show. I will check it out.

I saw Rosie talk about this show on the View last week. They showed a clip from the show where the trainee's had to experience the taser gun..

They mentioned they all had to train for 2 weeks before hitting the street.

It was pretty funny.. Or at least Rosie made it seem funny.. I just cringed! Eric Estrada was also one of the 'police' cadets.. (Along with LaToya Jackson and Jack Osborne) (I didn't recognize the other 2 names)

I found a link..http://www.cbs.com/primetime/armed_and_famous/

Rosie actually said it was pretty good show.. I hear that Jack is awesome and a highlight of the show.. Not sure if Rosie said that or I read it somewhere..

I saw that on The View too. Very funny, especially, the fact that Eric Estrada took the taser like a baby and the young girl, (I don't know her name either), took the hit the hard way, and barely broke a sweat! Too funny. I suspect Eric was trying to over state the agony he was in. The girl, just blew it off. Maybe like childbirth. LOL.
