

---

Megan Mullally Show Canceled!

Posted by skorped - 2007/01/15 01:13

---

I just read that the NBC show that took over in Starting Over's place (the Megan Mullally Show) has been canceled!:)

I didn't think that this show would work. Please bring back Starting Over.

Kris H.

---

Re:Megan Mullally Show Canceled!

Posted by KPW1956 - 2007/01/15 01:25

---

I'm not surprised... too many new shows this year... I wonder how Rachel Ray's show is doing?

In my market... Ivillage Live took the old SO slot... I think it got off to a rocky start.. but I occasionally will glimpse at the show.. Just a new format for a new talk show.. ho, hum...

Not sure how IVillage Live is doing now that's it been on almost a month.. I think it has a chance to succeed... It's definitely different..

---

Re:Megan Mullally Show Canceled!

Posted by gr84me2 - 2007/02/20 18:46

---

In my area, Starting Over re-runs have taken the place of the Megan Mullally Show! Yeah!!!!!! They are showing the 2nd Season. I was soooo hoping that this was a temporary fill-in until they could get SO back up and running again with new episodes. Well, I can dream, can't I???

---

Re:Megan Mullally Show Canceled!

Posted by Tara - 2007/02/20 18:58

---

Wow that's interesting to hear that they are showing Starting Over re-runs. What area do you live in?

I'd like to see the past seasons again!

---

Re:Megan Mullally Show Canceled!

Posted by gr84me2 - 2007/02/20 20:46

---

Hi Tara,
I live in Wisconsin, and SO is shown on a Milwaukee tv channel. It is in the same time slot and channel as it was originally. I think it would be great if Lifetime TV picked up the series re-runs. A great show for women's television. Right now, they are showing Season 2 and I don't know for how long it will continue. I am hopeful that they show the entire season, before replacing it with something else.

I never knew SO existed until my daughter discovered it mid-way through the 3rd season, so that is all I have ever seen of it. We both quickly became addicted to the show, and were heart-broken when it was cancelled.

Thanks for your reply.

Take care,
Ann

---

---

Re:Megan Mullally Show Canceled!

Posted by wish - 2007/02/23 00:40

---

You are lucky they showing reruns wish it would show here loved season 2.

=====

Re:Megan Mullally Show Canceled!

Posted by Nadia - 2007/02/23 08:23

---

Hi Ann and welcome to SOT.. I think that's great that they are showing SO (S2) in your area as wish said you're lucky!

=====

Re:Megan Mullally Show Canceled!

Posted by gr84me2 - 2007/02/23 17:11

---

:cheer: Hi nadia- Thank you for the welcome. Believe me, I am so appreciative of the fact that I can see it again. I never expected it. I sobbed all the way through the last episode, when it went off the air.

One thing I noticed in S2 is that Rhonda seems a bit kinder and more compassionate than she did in S3. Maybe it is just my imagination. I am wondering if she was beginning to get burned out in S3. With her having a similar show in England, and the travelling back and forth, making public appearances, writing her books, etc. I don't know how she managed that as long as she did. The same with Iyanla - they are both very busy women. When the show was cancelled, I went out and bought a handful of Iyanla's books. I think she is one remarkable woman!

Right now in S2 - they are at the point where Sommer and Kim are going at it about the make-up thing. They also had their first Board of Review. I really thought that Kim would be called up, for her messing up her assignment with the make-up and jewelry thing for dinner with her girls.

It was good to hear from you. Take care.

Ann

=====