Starting Over - 2007 emmy nomination!

Yep... Believe it or not! I saw a tidbit on an old forum (the one that used to have the recaps..) I was snooping around trying to remember what the name of that rehab place in Malibu that Christie went to during SO3... I think if it was Promises.. It's the same one that Britney Spears had been in...and obviously countless other celebs too..

Anyway, a search took me to the old recap site and I saw a bit on their forum about a 2007 emmy nomination and it took awhile, but it's true apparently!

Maybe someone forgot to tell the powers that be that the show is out of production! (Boo.... B/M!)

It might be up for the same one it was up for last year...

Bumping this up.. Surprised noone has commented.

I'm surprised it's even allowed to be in the competition!

I'm not sure what the cut off time period is for nominations. Maybe if your show aired anytime in 2006 you qualify. I looked back on some threads and apparantly the show was ending in the spring of 2006.

I wonder if Rhonda will be attending. I sure would love to see Dr. Stan. Please keep your eyes open for him. I'd like to know if anyone hears he may be on any upcoming shows. I may watch the Daytime Emmys in case he shows up.

Well... wouldn't it be nice if the show won and sparked interest in a new season? Wishful thinking... LOL... you never know... doesn't hurt to put it out there... LOL.

This is true. After Bad Girls, Bunim/Murray may have some free time on their hands, of course I don't know if Rhonda or Dr. Stan would want to get into another relationship with them or not.

This is nothing short of AMAZING!!!! Did anyone notice it got nominated for Outstanding Show in a Special Class Series, or something like that?!?!:cheer: :)

I have no doubt Rhonda, and hopefully Dr. Stan (everybody hit your knees and pray!) will show up! I hope Rhonda brings Andy with her again. I LOVE the outfits Andy picks out for her!

So everyone pray hard between now and Emmy Time! And when will it air again?

Wow! I didn't realize it was nominated twice! I had wondered if it was just a boo boo since the camera editing one was the same category it was up for last year!

Since noone has corrected it, and another category brings Starting Over to the forefront again... I guess it's good!

I just looked up the daytime emmy date... It's on June 15th!

Let's hope it takes home at least one of them.. and that it renews an interest in this type of show! But I personally hope that Bunim Murray isn't involved!
