Hey everybody if you watch Hells Kitchen then you all remember Gordon Ramsay! LOL Heeee's back!

Don't miss the Season Premier, Monday June 4 at 9/8c.

I wonder if he's going to be a little nicer this season? LOL probably not!

Guess will have to wait and see how brutal he can be.

I think I'll watch. TV is slim pickings these days, so I'm anxious to see something that is not a rerun.

Wonder if they'll switch it up this time. I think the show needs something fresh from the precious seasons.

Soooooooooooo.....what did you all think?????

Hmmm.....I'm kinda torn.....some definite interesting people, but they sure seem like they're all much worse cooks to begin with than last season, don't they??

Sure looks like someone has a major medical issue though. It definitely does not lack for drama!!!! ;)

I was disappointed that the 2 gals said the "waffle house" cook was not worthy of being there and not a real cook. I've eaten there a lot of times and they work under a lot of pressure to get the food out quickly... and they for sure know how to cook eggs.

I guess they forgot that Ramsey help Elsie in high regards and really respected her... and she was just a housewife! So to Ramsey... he didn't care if they were cooks at home or in a fancy restaurant... they have to cook well.

Naturally they are going to pick people that will enhance drama and get a few with attitudes.

If they were wise.. they'd learn from the first 2 and learn that they have to co-operate together and just cook better... cut throating doesn't work well when it makes the team look bad... Heather from last year looked good by making her team look good.

I think Aaron was chosen to be another Dewberry... but Ramsey did like his signature dish

Yeah.....I hate the ego about cooks who these hot shots think are soooooo below them. Ummmmm.....just WHY are you on a REALITY TV show if you're all that????????????????????????????????????

LOL.. to prove they are all that. One of the egos said she was sure she can get what she wants from Ramsey and then tried to serve him a cocktail with her signature dish. I'd be surprised if she can play him. He seems more impressed with good culinary skills, good team playing skills, and over-coming handicaps from what I've seen in the past 2 years.

We shall see.

I just saw part of the show last night for the first time. Not sure if it was a rerun or not.. They were showing when they presented their signature dishes.. and then the opening of the restuarant..

I don't think I'll be watching again.. I was appalled at the humiliation type comments tactics..

I happened to see a recap someone wrote on another site and it wasn't the same episode I saw last night. It was dated today so maybe it's on again tonight? I really didn't even like the recap of the show I didn't see.

Apparently one reviewer says Gordon does show favortism toward the women on a regular basis.

Maybe I'm just too old to appreciate this show.. Iron Chef it's not...

I have gotten into the new Food Channel's version of the next Food Channel Star or something like that.. At least they try to be humane about their criticism..

Here is a link to the recap of tonight's which I haven't seen but after reading am just glad that I won't bother watching.. The favoritism comment was on another site's recap... Maybe some who watch regularly can comment more to that end...
