
Big Brother 8 Live feeds and general musings

Posted by DrStanFan - 2007/08/26 13:59

It always cracks me up when I sign into the live feed chat rooms and they say "no rudeness and profanity" while that's all we get from ED on the feeds.:dry:

Although I think it would be awesome to see Eric and Jessica go head to head with the Donatos in the final four, I really believe that the best and boldest move right now would be to back door Dani, as she is probably the biggest threat in the house. That would be dangerous with Dick still in the house, though, for obvious reasons.

It has amazed me how nice Dick has been since Jen left the house. I'm not trusting it, though.

I wonder what Jessica's reaction will be to finding out Eric is AP and the woobie was a prop.

I have never understood why no one in the house can stand Zach. Aside from a couple of comments he made early on he seems like a decent guy, not to mention handsome.

I'll bet Bunky is happy that someone else cried on a season more than he did.

I'm glad you're all here. I don't know a soul who watches BB and I have watched since day one.:kiss:

Post edited by: Tara, at: 2007/08/26 14:15

Re:Big Brother 8 Live feeds and general musings

Posted by mazzy - 2007/08/26 16:52

DrStanFan wrote:

It always cracks me up when I sign into the live feed chat rooms and they say "no rudeness and profanity" while that's all we get from ED on the feeds.:dry:

Although I think it would be awesome to see Eric and Jessica go head to head with the Donatos in the final four, I really believe that the best and boldest move right now would be to back door Dani, as she is probably the biggest threat in the house. That would be dangerous with Dick still in the house, though, for obvious reasons.

It has amazed me how nice Dick has been since Jen left the house. I'm not trusting it, though.

I wonder what Jessica's reaction will be to finding out Eric is AP and the woobie was a prop.

I have never understood why no one in the house can stand Zach. Aside from a couple of comments he made early on he seems like a decent guy, not to mention handsome.

I'll bet Bunky is happy that someone else cried on a season more than he did.

I'm glad you're all here. I don't know a soul who watches BB and I have watched since day one.:kiss:

Post edited by: Tara, at: 2007/08/26 14:15

It sure would be a bold move to back door Dani, but at this point I think it may be in the best interests of Eric and Jess to stick with the D/D alliance.

I think Jessica will understand Eric's behavior once she sees the actual tapes of the shows... understanding that it's a game, that Eric was in a unique position being America's Player, that he included her in any alliance he was part of... and that his feeling appeared to be genuine.

Re:Big Brother 8 Live feeds and general musings

Posted by moondreamer - 2007/08/26 21:19

Hi all. Long time no see. Been into BB8 heavier than usual this year. The games are downright vicious. I liked E>D> until he said what he did to Jen in the Live Feed last week. Sexual threats should be a BIG no no, just like, I think, sexual manipulation should be too. Boogie totally played one woman last year. Only thing is, c'mon, if a woman had any sense at all she'd tell the guy to wait til the show is over to do any kind of involvement.

I'm rooting for Dani. Can't stand Waaaamber. And if Jameeka wins, there's going to be an awful lot of people believing things about God that aren't true, and may end up making them lose faith in the long run.

I don't watch the live feeds. I read the synopsis on some of the other sites. Right now I'm just waiting for the show to come on.

=====