Here is the site that I have been looking for!!
It is a "House" show with the Judge from Divorce Court, Lynn Toyler (sp).....
Looks interesting.....

Mew,

Thanks alot for that... I looked around when it was first mentioned but couldn't find anything..

The previews seem to be very similar to a SO format. Reminds me of the couples episodes..

I wonder how the show will work.

I do like that judge.. Not sure what happened to Mablean the judge she replaced on divorce court. Hopefully this show will be much more meaningful than a divorce court showdown.. and may prevent a few...

I just caught my first episode.

I noticed how similar it was to the camera techniques used at the Dr. Phil House..

Then I figured out why during the closing credits.

The show is produced by Jay McGraw! (Dr. Phil's son)

I'm not sure if the show has gotten any good reviews. I saw one at the NYDaily News that wasn't too flattering..

This isn't the episode I saw tonight..

Here is a review that I read..

Here is another review..

Looks like this show is not going to be around too long.

It seems like another version of his father show, only watched 2 episodes.

I'm in the midst of watching a second episode. Just happened to spot it in the tvguide... What caught my eye is that Dr. Phil himself comes to Decision House to work with the couple.

They may be trying to salvage the show..

I do like Lynn Toler though even if the show ultimately bombs.

I just saw an ad for the show on tv. Shame they have not been able to re-create something as inspiring as our original Starting Over.
